Met Éireann

Met Éireann, Ireland's National Meteorological Service is tasked with the provision of a wide range of services related to weather and flooding, to help protect life and property and promote societal and economic wellbeing. It provides services to a broad range of sectors including aviation, ground transport, marine and agriculture. It also plays a key role in the State's emergency planning and management function through its production and communication of warnings related to weather hazards.

Met Éireann's vision is to 'Make Ireland Weather and Climate Prepared' by helping Irish society to be ready for and responsive to weather and climate risks. Further details are outlined in Met Éireann's strategic plan 2017-2027 (www.met.ie/about-us/strategy).

Met Éireann employs in excess of 220 employees across nine divisions. The majority of staff are based at Met Éireann's headquarters at Glasnevin, Dublin close to the National Botanic Gardens, and a number of staff involved in the provision of services to the aviation sector, are based at airport locations across the country.

The role of a Meteorological Officer

Met Éireann operates in a fast-changing environment, where science and technology are transforming the way meteorological services are delivered. The role of Meteorological Officer within Met Éireann is one with responsibility for technical and administrative support for the activities of the organisation. Meteorological Officers undertake tasks related to the operation, maintenance, and development of systems for meteorological observation, meteorological data processing and the development and dissemination of meteorological services. The Meteorological Officer grade is broadly equivalent to the general Civil Service Executive Officer grade.

The essential requirements and key competencies sought for all Meteorological Officers are detailed below, as are the principal duties for each category of Meteorological Officer. Some Meteorological Officer positions involve shift work, covering 24/7 shifts – for example in the General Forecast Office, Flood Forecast Office, or in the Aviation Offices at some of Ireland's airports. Staff assigned to shift roles will be in receipt of an additional shift allowance, up to 27% depending on shift pattern.

Working Location

Meteorological Officers work at locations throughout Ireland.

1. Met Éireann East region comprises offices in
 - HQ, Glasnevin, Dublin 9
 - Dublin Airport
 - Casement Aerodrome

2. Met Éireann West region comprises offices in
 - Ireland West Airport (formerly Knock Airport)
 - Shannon Airport

3. Met Éireann South region comprises offices in
 - Cork Airport
 - Valentia Observatory, Cahersiveen, Co. Kerry

This competition seeks to fill vacancies in all Met Éireann regions.

Note: On application, candidates will be asked to indicate their preferred working region(s). Please note that expressing a preference does not guarantee a post in that area. All appointments will be made by the Director and will be dependent on vacancies and business needs.

It is expected that Meteorological Officers will combine remote working with attendance at their assigned Met Éireann location. This will be dependent on the division to which an officer is assigned and the function(s) they are responsible for.

Met Éireann is committed to continuing staff development throughout the length of their career. Initial training will be provided to all recruited Meteorological Officers in basic meteorology and observations. This introductory training takes place over 5-6 weeks, with 4 weeks' practical training usually taking place at Shannon Airport. Further training opportunities will be made available on an ongoing basis, including through a refund of fees scheme.

The Department of Education and Skills introduced an Early Retirement Scheme for Teachers. It is a condition of the Early Retirement Scheme that with the exception of the situations set out in paragraphs 10.2 and 10.3 of the relevant circular documentation, and with those exceptions only, if a teacher accepts early retirement under Strands 1, 2 or 3 of this scheme and is subsequently employed in any capacity in any area of the public sector, payment of pension to that person under the scheme will immediately cease. Pension payments will, however, be resumed on the ceasing of such employment or on the person's 60th birthday, whichever is the later, but on resumption, the pension will be based on the person's actual reckonable service as a teacher (i.e. the added years previously granted will not be taken into account in the calculation of the pension payment).

III- Health Retirement

Please note any person who previously retired on ill health grounds under the terms of a superannuation scheme are required to declare, at the initial application phase, that they are in receipt of such a pension to the organisation administering the recruitment competition.
